ABOUT EASA

East African School of Aviation (EASA) is the training directorate of Kenya Civil Aviation Authority (KCAA). The school is established on 87 acres of land; 15km East of the city of Nairobi and about five minutes' drive from the Jomo Kenyatta International Airport. EASA was founded in 1954 to provide training for Telegraphic and Teleprinter operators and was expanded in 1960 to cater for Engineering Technicians and Air Traffic Controllers. In July 1963, the operations of EASA were entrusted to International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) and later came under the East African Community (EAC). In 1982, the present modern school was built and has the capability to train all major specialized areas of civil aviation except pilot training.
